

Ceprano, M. A., & Sivret, P. (2007). Experiencing Cambourne’s model through pen-pallling: Children and junior practitioners colearning about literacy. *School-University Partnerships: The Journal of the National Association for Professional Development Schools, 1(2), 93-103.

development schools: A delphi study. School-University Partnerships: The Journal of the National Association for Professional Development Schools, 2(2), 27-50.

the very beginning. A very good place to start.” School-University Partnerships:
The Journal of the National Association for Professional Development Schools, 3(2), 112-115.

Foster, K., Reed, H., & McGinnis, K. (2009). After the funding flees: A how-to model for sustaining the professional development school partnership. School-University Partnerships: The Journal of the National Association for Professional Development Schools, 3(1), 113-118.

preparation: Can we do it all within a professional development school context? School-University Partnerships: The Journal of the National Association for Professional Development Schools, 1(1), 87-95.

the teachers. School-University Partnerships: The Journal of the National Association for Professional Development Schools, 3(1), 100-112.

Partnerships: The Journal of the National Association for Professional Development Schools, 1(2), 89-92.

Kapustka, K. M., & Damone, S. J. (2009). Processes of change in professional development schools as viewed through the lens of the Concerns-Based Adoption

Vare, J. W., & Young, E. A. (2007). Perceptions of the quality of mentor teachers’ supervision in professional development school and nonprofessional development

