2018 PDS SERVE Conference

The 2018 PDS SERVE Conference seeks to provide a place for South East Regional faculty and students to present on their PDS research, clinical practice, innovations, impact and instruction.

SATURDAY
Sept
22

9 a.m. – 4 p.m.

University of South Carolina College of Education
820 Main Street, Columbia, SC 29208

Participants will include university faculty, P-12 teachers and administrators, graduate and undergraduate students, and community members participating or interested in PDS networks.

About the 2018 Conference

This year's theme, Building Momentum in the Southeast, honors the work of PDS Partnerships and pushes us forward to make strides in PDS work throughout the Southeast.

The conference will include 45-minute concurrent sessions and a poster session. Completed proposals will be accepted from May 1-May 31.

Applicants will be notified of their selection status via email by July 3.

Pre-Conference: Friday, September 21, 2018

In this one-day pre-conference, faculty from the University of South Carolina's College of Education and local K-12 faculty from multiple school districts will lead participants through targeted grade level PDS visits (elementary, middle, or high school) and working sessions on building sustainable partnerships that benefit everyone.

Participant teams are encouraged to include both school district members (principals, teachers, administrators) and university faculty and administrators.
